Mrs. Coolidge's Inaugural Costume To Create New Style of Dress

WASHINGTON, March 4.—When Grace Coolidge rode down Pennsylvania avenue this morning with her distinguished husband she probably started a rush upon modistes and dressmakers that will last for several days.

All because the first lady's inaugural costume represented ultra-ultra in the latest style. Her dress was fashioned of "joseena." Its color was "moonstone."

For the benefit of the novice, "joseena" is a new cloth, something of a cross between duvetyne and kasha cloth, with a dull finish.

Also, "moonstone" is the latest color to be evolved by those who prognosticate the fashions. It is a grey, somewhat darker than pearl, and with a warmer appearance.

The costume was an "ensemble" with a bodice of crepe de chine, and a collar of grey fox on the coat. Silver embroidery embellished the coat from shoulder to hem.

Mrs. Coolidge's hat was a modish spring model of straw, high crown and drooping, narrow brim, with a burnt goose band. Grey slippers completed the outfit.

CUSTOM GIVEN SEVERE JOLT BY DAWES

'Hell And Maria' Flabbergasts Senate By Ignoring All Swearing-In Rules

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Charles Gates (Hell and Maria) Dawes, newly installed vice president of the United States, completely shattered custom and precedent in his first day as presiding officer of the Senate.

After lambasting Senate rules, Dawes stepped out of the quiet role which had been carefully prepared for him, and took absolute charge of the inaugural ceremonies.

It is the custom for senators-elect to take the oath in groups of five. After the first five had been administered, Dawes smashed all traditions by ordering all the other senators-elect to come to the well of the Senate and take the oath collectively.

'Bring Them All' After the clerk had read the names of the second group of five, Dawes arose abruptly from his chair, shouting: "Call them all, bring them all up."

Senate attaches were flabbergasted. A great roar of laughter and applause went up as the senators-elect crowded to the front of the rostrum.

After administering the oath collectively, Dawes again upset the plans, announced: "The Senate will go to the east front of the capitol."

It had been arranged that the Senate, the House and all other branches of the government should file out individually as they came in.

Fast Work

Dawes thus cut the inaugural ceremonies so short that the senators-elect were signing their names to the Senate roster 10 minutes after the audience had left the chamber to witness President Coolidge's inauguration in the capitol plaza.

Standing on the rostrum where, for the next four years, he will preside over the Senate, Dawes administered the oath by Senator Cummings, Republican of Iowa, retiring president pro tem. Cummings had occupied the chair since the elevation of President Coolidge to the White House in August, 1923.

Dawes Sounds 'Hell, Maria' To Senators

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Vice-President Charles G. Dawes lived up to his reputation for audacity and bluntness in his inaugural address today by denouncing some of the present rules of the Senate as "subversive of representative government."

He assailed particularly the rule that will permit one senator to filibuster and delay action of the Senate indefinitely, perhaps to the end of defeating legislation on which all other senators are in favor.

Members of a special committee appointed last night when plans for Glendale's three-day Spanish fiesta were taken up by representatives of all organizations in the city, met this morning and decided on the dates for the $25 prize name contest to be conducted in connection with the fiesta.

The contest, it was decided, will open tomorrow morning and will continue until Thursday afternoon, March 19, at 5 o'clock.

Every man, woman and child in the community is invited by the committee to enter the contest and submit suggestions for a name to be officially adopted for the fiesta and pageant.

Mail Names to C. C.

All names suggested should be either written on post card or letter and addressed to the "Contest Department, Glendale Chamber of Commerce." No names will be taken verbally or over the telephone, it was announced.

It is desired to have a name conveying as closely as possible the general nature of the annual three-day fiesta. Brevity will count materially in the decision of the judges. An award of $25 will be made to the person suggesting the name deemed most appropriate and adopted by the judges.

Members of the committee that drew up rules for the contest are Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman, George J. Lyons and Howard I. Wood, temporary secretary.

Executive Committee

The nominating committee of the Spanish fiesta met at 2 o'clock this afternoon, in the offices of Twining & Myers, 108 West Broadway, and named the executive committee of the movement, as follows: W. L. Twining, chairman; Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, W. L. Twining, C. J. Hatz and W. E. Hewitt.

This committee will meet at the earliest opportunity, probably tomorrow afternoon, and will name an advisory committee of twenty or more members, to interview every citizen and individual of Glendale in making the three days of September 9, 10 and 11, the biggest carnival period this city has ever known. The plan is to perpetuate the movement, making it an annual affair similar in scope to Pasadena's "Tournament of Roses."

CONGRESSMEN SALARIES ARE BOOSTED

Senators, Representatives Get $2500 Yearly Raise As Coolidge Signs

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Annual salaries of senators and members of the House of Representatives will be increased from $7,500 to $10,000 under the 1925-26 legislative appropriation bill signed by President Coolidge today.

It was the last act of the president before he entered the Senate chamber for the inauguration. The bill carried a total of $14,872,000, including the increased salaries for Congress. Of this, $2,559,249 was for the Senate and $6,376,139 for the House.

The remainder included items for maintaining the capitol and congressional office buildings and the library of Congress.

EXTORTION PROBE VERDICT AWAITED

Capital Hints Chinese Herb Charges To Be Shifted To Grand Jury

SACRAMENTO, March 4.—The verdict of the legislative committee probing charges of extortion lodged against two members of the state Legislature and former Assemblyman William R. Brackett of Oakland by Chinese herbalists will be known sometime today, it was forecast by members of the investigating body when the trial was resumed this morning.

Having heard the testimony of former Assemblyman Brackett, who emphatically denied demanding bribes to kill the Chinese herb bill, the committee prepared to open its final hearing today with Senator Edgar Hurley of Alameda county on the stand. Assemblyman Edward Smith, also of Alameda county, author of the alleged "cinch" bill, was scheduled to follow Senator Hurley.

Reports current in the capitol this morning were to the effect that the legislative committee would probably dispose of the case by referring it to the Alameda county grand jury for investigation.

Venice Trustees Vote To Wipe Out Grafters

LOS ANGELES, March 4.—Coming as a spectacular political upheaval, the Venice Board of Trustees today voted to oust every employee receiving more than $4.50 a day, including themselves, as an aftermath of a sensational meeting, in which charges of graft and neglect of duty were hurled. Gambling and traffic in liquor received "protection" from Venice officials, it was charged at the meeting.

SURVEY OF BRAND PARK COMMENCED

Entrance Runs From Vista Drive North From Mountain Street

Surveys for the entrance to Brand park started today, Virgil B. Stone, city manager, announced. The entrance will run from the north end of Vista drive directly into the 800-acre tract recently deeded to the city by L. C. Brand. H. N. Landon, owner of the tract lying to the east and west of Vista drive, has agreed to deed to the city, without cost, the necessary right-of-way for opening and widening this street into the park.

Vista drive runs north from Mountain street, just west of the Grand View avenue junction. This afternoon John F. Johansen, city engineer, took a crew of city surveyors to the site and began making his preliminary surveys. When the right-of-way has been exactly determined, Mr. Landon will hand to the city a deed to the property required, and Mr. Brand will deed whatever additional right-of-way is needed, as he has agreed to do.

GREAT THRONG WITNESSES CEREMONY

Glittering Pageantry of Past Years Absent; Thousands Cheer President

WASHINGTON, March 4.—While a bright and kindly sun beamed down on the spectacle, President Coolidge successfully launched his own administration here this afternoon before an enormous throng that eddied for blocks around the capitol.

With the same calmness and lack of fuss or feathers that has ever marked his official acts, he took the oath of office at 1:02 p. m., and followed it with a 40-minute address in which he charted the principles which will guide his administration during the next four years.

Casting aside the ostentatious display of glittering pageantry of other years, Calvin Coolidge bared his head on the plaza of the capitol today, and in one of the simplest inaugural ceremonies on record, renewed the oath of office he originally took nineteen months ago in the lamp-lit room of his father's Vermont farm house under tragic and dramatic circumstances.

Different Scenes

A handful of hastily garbed, awe-struck relatives were the sole witnesses of that other ceremony nineteen months ago, but today there were cheering thousands in the multitude that looked on and acclaimed him—completing a cycle of events unparalleled in the history of the republic.

A few moments after he had repeated the words of the oath intoned by the black-robed chief justice, Calvin Coolidge squared his shoulders, faced the panoramic sea of humanity in front of him and proclaimed to the country and to the world the basic principles which will guide him in the conduct of the nation's affairs for the next four years.

On the vast plaza, a-front of the capitol, a crowd of scores of thousands was assembled. From the

Deficiency Bill Gets Signature Of President

WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Coolidge today signed the second deficiency appropriation bill, carrying a total of $54,000,000, including $30,000,000 for the modernization of six battleships. Of this sum, $17,000,000 is to go for the construction of aircraft carriers.

Nearly a hundred bills were signed by the president at the capitol today before the inaugural ceremonies. The most important of these were the legislative appropriation increasing the salaries of members of Congress to $10,000 a year and the second deficiency bill carrying $30,000,000 for the modernization of the navy.

The president took so long signing bills that the ceremonies in the Senate chamber were delayed. At 12 noon the clock was moved back 12 minutes.

ECONOMY WILL BE CONTINUED SAYS COOLIDGE

Urges American Entry Into World Court And Proposes Nation Set Example In Moderation of Armament

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—"Our most important problem is NOT to secure new advantages, but to maintain those we already possess."

With this sage observation concerning the task at hand, Calvin Coolidge assumed the presidency of the United States today, and in one of the shortest, simplest inaugural addresses on record pledged himself to continue for four years the policies he has already inaugurated.

These policies he set forth in his brief address as follows: Abroad—A continuation of American helpfulness and co-operation where deserved; aloofness from the political quarrels and jealousies of the old world; with America setting a moral example for the world in moderate armament, and displaying a willingness always to substitute the rule of reason for the rule of force.

At home—A continuation of the rigid economy in government that already has marked his administration; further tax reduction; encouragement to American business; enforcement of laws; party responsibility in government; and non-interference by the government in legitimate private business.

Those who came to the windswept plaza of the capitol today expecting to see "a new Coolidge" stepping into the presidency in his own right, and accompanying it with a glittering speech setting forth new policies and new goals, were not accorded any such spectacle.

Showed Calmness With the same calmness that has ever marked his official acts, Mr. Coolidge simply interpreted the November election as a national endorsement of his administration and a mandate from the people to continue along the roadway he has been traveling.

He presented no detailed program of administration effort for the next four years; he urged no great reforms; he advocated no radical changes—he said that America is the most fortunate and favored of all nations, now enjoying an era of great prosperity, and it would be his unceasing endeavor to keep it that way.

He served unmistakable notice that under his leadership the Republican party will be a disciplined party, and indirectly, he referred to and endorsed the expulsion from the party of the La Follette rebels who broke away from the Republican standard in the last campaign.

"If there is to be responsible party government," he declared, "the party label must be something more than a mere device for securing office. Unless those who are elected under the same party designation are willing to assume sufficient responsibility and exhibit sufficient loyalty, so they can co-operate in support of the broad general principles of the party, the election is merely a mockery."

Clear Mandate Then, referring in the same indirect manner to La Follette's platform of a curb on the judiciary and government ownership, he said:

"This administration has come into power with a very clear and definite mandate from the people. The expression of the popular will in favor of maintaining our constitutional guarantees was overwhelming and decisive. There was such a manifestation of faith in the integrity of the courts that we can consider that issue rejected for some time to come. Likewise, the policy of public ownership of railroads and certain electric utilities met with unmistakable defeat."

The president chose to divide his brief address into two parts. He spoke first of America's relations to the rest of the world, and

OMNIBUS NAVY MEASURE IS SIGNED

Several Personnel Changes Affected; Improvements For Naval Bases

WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Coolidge today signed the naval omnibus bill.

The omnibus naval bill making a number of changes in laws affecting the navy's personnel was passed today by the House after acceptance of a number of Senate changes.

Among the additions to the bill by the Senate were appropriations of $1,010,000 for improvements to the naval base waterfront at San Diego; $5,982,000 for channel and harbor to naval station at Pearl harbor, Hawaii; acceptance from private owners of 400 acres of land for naval air station at Sand Point, Wash.; an increase of appropriations for three scout cruisers, $8,250,000 to $8,650,000 each, and for one submarine tender from $3,400,000 to $4,800,000.

World Court Issue Flatly Repudiated

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The world court issue was flatly repudiated by the Senate today when it voted to "table" a motion to consider a resolution providing for American adherence to the international tribunal.

The issue was raised by Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, who offered a motion that the Senate consider the adherence resolution in executive session. Senator Moses, Republican, of New Hampshire, irreconcilable leader, immediately moved to "table" King's motion and the Senate overwhelmingly voted to do so. No record vote was taken.

RAIL CROSSING IS ADMITTED NECESSARY

Pacific Electric Owns Undue Haste Is Taken At Gardena Junction

Admission that hasty and ill-considered action was taken by the Pacific Electric Railway Co. in blocking the Gardena avenue crossing of Glendale boulevard, on expiration of the two-year franchise ending January 18, was made yesterday afternoon by Attorney Frank Karr of the company, in a hearing before Commissioner Edgerton Shore of the State Railroad commission, on application of the city to have this crossing re-established. The hearing was held in the council chamber at the city hall. Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, and Leslie R. Tarr, city prosecutor, represented the city of Glendale.

"Mr. Pontius and myself feel that our conduct was not what it should have been," said Mr. Karr. "We should have asked the people of Glendale in advance if they wanted this crossing taken up. The matter was handled by a routine man. Nothing that the franchise had expired, he considered it a legal obligation to close the crossing."

Mr. Karr was referring to D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Electric Railway Co., when he spoke of Mr. Pontius.

"I have told Virgil B. Stone, your city manager, that I would join in asking the Railroad commission for an early hearing on this case," Mr. Karr told City Attorney Morrow. "I would like to have the same evidence submitted at the present time that was introduced at the original hearing." Commissioner Shore so ordered.

Those called to the stand to testify in the Gardena avenue crossing case were: Virgil B. Stone, Glendale city manager, who pictured the traffic congestion in South Glendale and urged that this crossing is necessary to relieve it; Councilman S. S. Gilhuly of Glendale, who substantiated Mr. Stone's testimony, and J. P. Gould, a Pacific Electric engineer, who introduced estimates to show that a permanent crossing would cost $2085, plus $25 to rewire the wig-wag now there, while a less expensive type of crossing would cost from $1200 to $1500.

Request Denied
A request that the application for a grade crossing at Gardena avenue and the Pacific Electric tracks on Glendale boulevard be denied was filed with Commissioner Shore by John R. Berryman, attorney for the Los Angeles county Grade Crossing Elimination committee.

The hearing on re-establishment of a grade crossing at Gardena avenue was preceded by a hearing on application for establishment of a grade crossing of the Pacific Electric tracks on Brand boulevard at Palmer avenue. Testimony was introduced from W. H. Daniel, Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department, Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department, Councilman S. A. Davis of Glendale, City Manager Virgil B. Stone of Glendale and J. P. Gould, Pacific Electric engineer.

The testimony of the Glendale witnesses all tended to show that a grade crossing at Palmer avenue was imperative, as a traffic relief measure and for the general safety and the proper development of the city. Mr. Gould testified that it would cost $2660 to establish a grade crossing at this point.

John R. Berryman, attorney for the Los Angeles county Grade Crossing Elimination committee, filed with Commissioner Shore a request that the application be not granted until the Pacific Electric tracks were lowered to full length of South Brand boulevard.

Commissioner Shore told Mr. Berryman that the reports filed on behalf of the Grade Crossing Elimination committee would have had more weight with the State Railroad commission, had

Nurses' Dormitory
Plans for a $100,000 nurses' dormitory on the hill near the sanitarium were discussed, it being felt that this is the most pressing present need of the institution.

The financial report revealed that the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital has a daily payroll of $633, or total yearly payroll of over $220,000. During the year ending June 30, 1924, the gross income of the institution was $244,414.24, the report showed.

Following is a portion of a report rendered by Dr. A. W. Truman, medical superintendent of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital:

"I feel no hesitancy in saying that one would search the world in vain for a group of physicians more loyal to principle, more sympathetic toward one another, or more unitedly committed to the accomplishment of the original sanitarium ideals, than is true of our Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital medical staff. We greatly appreciate their earnest efforts and sympathetic cooperation."

Reorganization

"In the reorganization of the medical service it was arranged that there should not be an hour through the day or night, Sabbath included, when the institution should be left unprotected by the possible absence of its entire medical staff. It was therefore agreed to have some of our physicians always on duty in the institution to quickly respond to calls and take care of possible emergencies. Under this plan our physicians take their turn on night and Sabbath duty. While this arrangement has imposed an additional burden upon our medical staff it has improved the quality of the service rendered and it safeguards the interests of the institution."

"We believe we have a most excellent family of loyal nurses in training for the double ministry, that is, for the relief of both physical and spiritual maladies. Morning worship is conducted daily at 7 o'clock in the chapel, and most of our physicians, faculty members, heads of departments and all of the nurses not on duty, and many other general workers are in regular attendance. Each week, for the benefit of our guests, one health lecture and one question box is given in the guests' parlor."

"During the seven months from July, 1924, to January, 1925, inclusive, the total number of patients entering the sanitarium was 1831, as compared with a total of 1413 for the comparative period of 1923, or a grand total for the entire year of 1923 of 1940. At present there are 191 patients in the institution, including the hospital. The showing in the hospital would, without doubt, have been more encouraging had it not been for the effect of months of negotiations for the sale or lease of this plant, all of which was well known to the public and to the physicians who were bringing patients to it. The recent action of our board to terminate negotiations for leasing the plant and to elevate the standard of the service, so as to merit a rating for internes by the American Medical association, and thus open a hospital to our graduates for internships, has done much to stabilize the work in the hospital plant, and will, I believe, improve its financial showing."

Result of Action
"This action has also made available the old medical building of thirty rooms for dormitory purposes, and has made possible the release of twenty-five rooms on the first floor of the new building, formerly occupied by our nurses. A number of these have already been fitted up and are occupied by patients. The total patient business in the hospital for the seven months was $43,580; total expense $43,362. But sterility work separate from the operation of this unit, and thus providing for our surgical and obstetrical work separate from the main building, and the release of much-needed space for patients, is not shown by these figures."

"We desire to take this opportunity to thank our general conference, our board, the members of our constituency and our loyal people everywhere for their sympathetic cooperation and substantial support, which, under the blessing of God, has made possible the present encouraging showing."

EASTERN CONCERN TAKES OVER PLANT

Former Rubber Concern On San Fernando To Be Tiling Factory

M. W. Meadows who is the general manager of an eastern company that recently bought the Orme factory and acreage at Allen and San Fernando road, is rushing the repair work on the building that is necessary before the installation of the machinery that has been shipped from eastern points with which they will manufacture building tile in this plant to take care of their western and coast business.

Mr. Meadows states that they will specialize in Opalite tiling that is extensively used in the building of mantels, door columns, jambs and bathroom finish. This Opalite is produced from certain rocks found in many sections of California and can be furnished in any colors to match the finish or decorations of homes. Many beautiful lighting effects can be obtained by placing incandescent lamps inside of the tiling.

This company also specializes in the manufacture of an interlocking building tile, both inside and outside surfaces being so finished that it does not require any additional work on the walls to make same ready for the decorator. This tiling will greatly reduce building costs for bungalows and Mr.

John Brown To Speak For Christian Circle

Rev. John E. Brown, who has been conducting a revival campaign in Glendale for the past three weeks, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Christian Circle club tomorrow night at First Methodist church. Supper will be served at 5:45 o'clock, followed by Rev. Brown's talk. Mrs. Loren G. Jones, director of women's work, also will speak.

Meadows looks forward to a great business in this department. This tiling is made in all shapes and dimensions even up to 8 and 10-foot lintels, door headers and posts.

Roofing Sand
Another interesting product of this company is a roofing rock ground and screened to various sizes. This rock is of volcanic origin, being a lava which can be obtained in large quantities in any color and makes an elaborate roofing shingle that is now extensively used in the east instead of slate. As soon as extensive improvements are made to the plant one hundred men will be employed in turning out the various products of the company.

This industry was located in Glendale through the influence of Mr. Orme, owner of the property, together with A. H. Collins, industrial engineer, who has recently become associated with the L. H. Wilson Realty Co. Both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Collins are very enthusiastic over the industrial prospects of Glendale and have several other industries interested in taking the land owned by Mr. Wilson which joins the property of the tile company.

CALLA LILY TO BUILD $250,000 CREAMERY PLANT

ONE HUNDRED PLANES DUE FOR MEET

Spectacle Seldom Seen Will Feature Glendale's Air Meet March 14-15

One-hundred airplanes in the air at one time, a sight not often witnessed in Southern California will be a feature of the two-day air meet and rodeo to be staged at the Glendale Airport on March 14 and 15. It is expected that this and many other unusual features of the air meet will attract at least 25,000 visitors to the city, Dr. T. C. Young, general chairman, told directors of the Chamber of Commerce under whose auspices the meet will be held.

The Chamber of Commerce and the city of Glendale will offer the silver trophy, the principal prize to be given in connection with the meet, to go to the aviator winning the gliding competition when 25 planes ascend to 8,000 feet over Eighth and Broadway, Los Angeles, cut their motors dead, and glide to the Glendale Airport.

Other civic organizations plan to offer a number of valuable prizes in connection with other events, Dr. Young said.

All West Invited
Entry cards of the meet have been sent to every army and navy representative in the west and to all civilian flyers, flying clubs and fields.

Already four internationally-known moving picture news services have applied for permission to have planes on the field and in the air during the meet in order to get action pictures of the many events, Dr. Young announced.

The chairman of the air committee further urged that the Chamber of Commerce and the business men of Glendale prepare to entertain and care for the crowds. Steps in this direction will be taken late this afternoon when representatives of the chamber of the Glendale Airport and the City Council meet at the airport.

DATES FOR SPANISH FIESTA ANNOUNCED

Celebration to Start Admission Day, September 9; Preliminary Plans Made at Meeting Last Night

A Spanish fiesta reminiscent of bygone days in Southern California, when Padres and Indians inhabited these rich valleys, now famed throughout the world, is to be held in Glendale September 9, 10 and 11, in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of Admission day, the opening date of the historic carnival. This was decided last night at a meeting of twenty-five representative citizens, held in the offices of Twining & Myers, 108 West Broadway, W. L. Twining presiding.

The fiesta will be an annual affair, similar in scope to the "Tournament of Roses" held in Pasadena on New Year's day each year, and which has advertised that city all over America. In order to stimulate local interest in the project and get the city as a whole back of it, the sum of $25 cash will be offered to the person submitting the best name for the event, conditions being that the contest close within ten days and that no one outside of Glendale be eligible.

A committee to work out further details for this prize contest was appointed last night, comprising Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club; Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; and George J. Lyons, president of Community Service. This committee met at 7:30 o'clock this morning, at Chamber of Commerce headquarters, 150 South Brand boulevard, Mrs. Montgomery presiding. A full report of this meeting appears elsewhere in this paper.

Executive Committee
Early in the meeting last night it was voted to have an executive committee of seven appointed by a nominating committee comprising W. L. Twining, president of the Glendale Realty board; D. H. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce; and Lon J. Haddock, of the Haddock-Nibley Co. This committee met at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, in the offices of Twining & Myers, 108 West Broadway, Mr. Twining presiding.

It was voted last night to create an advisory committee, comprising one representative from each organization in the city, to work with the executive committee in developing plans for this imposing fiesta. The vote to hold the three-day celebration on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 9, 10 and 11, came after discussion had shown the impracticability of extending it another day to include Saturday. The argument to start the fiesta on Thursday instead of Wednesday met with little favor, inasmuch as the entire significance of the observation is the fact that Wednesday, September 9, is Admission Day.

Paegant Planned
It was voted to employ a paid director to stage a large and beautiful paegant, symbolic of the historic events celebrated. This paegant will be held in a suitable place and the admission price charged will help defray the expenses of the fiesta. It will be given each night and perhaps in the afternoons as well, it was decided.

On Friday night, the concluding night of the fiesta, a great open-air carnival will be staged, probably along Central avenue, and a king and queen, previously elected by popular vote, will be crowned. Confetti will fly, there will be dancing, and the fiesta will end in a whirl of joy.

Another outstanding feature of what is to be Glendale's outstanding three-day event of the year, will be a monster parade, headed by Indians and Padres, followed by Jose Maria Verdugo and his intrepid band of cavaliers, then long lines of high school boys and girls dressed as caballeros and señoritas, followed by delegations from each organization in the city, all gaily attired.

Reunion Suggested
Mr. Haddock, who suggested the parade, declared that it would be possible to have soldiers and marines from the army and navy participate, with airplanes whirling overhead and possibly a delegation from Hollywood's movieland, in a glittering array of historic impersonations.

It was suggested by A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, that some effort be made to perpetuate one of the days of the fiesta as "Reunion Day," when people from various cities of California and from various states in the union might get together and renew old acquaintances. Mr. Cowan also suggested that 100 leading newspapers of the state be furnished with prepared articles, setting forth in detail Glendale's plans for holding an annual fiesta in commemoration of the admission of California to the union. It was decided to do this as soon as the $25 prize contest for an appropriate name has been concluded and the winning name selected.

McGroarty to Help
The possibility of holding a rodeo in connection with the fiesta was also discussed and it was finally decided to leave this matter to the executive committee to decide. Mr. Twining stated that John Steven McGroarty, famous author of the "Mission Play" and noted authority on early California days, had proffered his help in staging the fiesta.

Following is the list of those present at last night's meeting: W. L. Twining, D. H. Smith, Connellman H. G. MacBain, Lon J. Haddock, George J. Lyons, Fred Deal, William Baker, Peter Hanson, Daniel Kelly, Jr., Herbert Smith, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. John Robert White, W. B. Kelly, C. D. Lusby, Dr. T. C. Young, J. M. Boland, L. H. Wilson, A. T. Cowan, Howard I. Wood, W. L. Truitt, E. P. Hayward, Frank L. Fox, C. J. Hatz, L. H. Myers and J. B. Erickson.

TELLS DANGER OF DELAY IN CHOOSING

Evangelist John Brown Gives Searching Sermon At Union Tabernacle

Brown Program

Tonight, 7:30 o'clock, "Choosing the Highest," church and Sunday school night.

Thursday morning, 10 o'clock, "Christian Science, Is It Christian?"

Thursday night, 7:30 o'clock, "The Five Deaths," high school students to occupy seats in reserved section.

Friday morning, 10 o'clock, "In the Cult Kingdom."

"What are you going to do with Christ?" This was the burning question hurled by John Brown, evangelist, at the revival meeting last night at the Union tabernacle on Kenwood street.

Using the words of Pontius Pilate, "What then shall I do with this man called Jesus?" the evangelist preached a searching sermon. The vast audience sat in silence as Mr. Brown gave one of the most appealing sermons heard in Glendale.

Among the statements the evangelist poured forth that rang true to every heart were:

"There are some choices that are made by refusing to choose."

"When we refuse to cast our lot for Christ we thereby cast our lot against Him, for Christ said 'They that are not for me are against me.'"

As Mr. Brown portrayed things after that which was keeping people from answering Pilate's question, nothing that tends to lead men and women away from God escaped him. He warned his hearers against the danger of resolving to accept Christ at some future time.

"It is 10,000 times better never to resolve to be a Christian at some future date for every time you form a resolution thus you strengthen the habit of postponing the important step," Mr. Brown said.

"There is no tomorrow with God. All through the Bible it is today that stands out. Thousands are in hell tonight that resolved to take Christ at some future time."

Mr. Brown used church statistics showing that the majority of the Christians and church people profess faith before they are 18 years old. At the close of the sermon scores of persons went into the inquiry room for prayer.

SAN DIEGO, March 4.—The United States navy destroyer Robert Smith, which figured in an accident yesterday with the aircraft carrier Langley shortly after the Pacific fleet set out from here and San Pedro, and engaged in wartime maneuvers with the Atlantic fleet was back here today for repairs. At the same time it was said the destroyer, which is flagship of division 35, will not make the Hawaiian cruise next month. The accident happened about forty miles south of here.

UPHOLD OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Prohibition officers who stopped and searched the automobile of George Carroll and John Kiro of Grand Rapids, Mich., even without a search warrant, were upheld by the supreme court of the United States when it dismissed their appeal for a review of their conviction for violating the prohibition laws. They appealed to the supreme court because the dry agents, who found 73 quarts of liquor in the car, did not have a search warrant.

BENEFIT FOR WAR MOTHERS IS SET

Galaxy of Movie Stars And Vaudeville Acts For Program March 6

Everything is in readiness for the War Mothers' benefit show at the Broadway high school auditorium the night of March 6. Tickets are selling fast and those in charge predict every seat in the big auditorium will be taken.

Mrs. S. P. Bradish, president of the local chapter, stated today that it was the desire of the War Mothers to give a variety show greater than has ever been given for the price of admission. Judging from the pretentious program, it would appear that they are succeeding. The following motion picture stars will take part:

Tom Mix, Louise Dresser, Madge Bellamy, William Desmond, Laura La Plante, Lew Cody, Albert J. Smith, and Lin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog. William Desmond will give the feature act for the movie stars when he presents "The Timber Wolf," an act written for Mr. Desmond when he played the legitimate stage.

Mary McEvoy and Al Smith will assist in this act, and special scenery will accompany Desmond from the Universal studios. Rintin-Tin is slated to perform many of his movie stunts on the stage, under the guidance of his owner and trainer, L. L. Duncan.

Tom Mix will tell of his early experiences in the movies, and Louise Dresser is going to "tell some" Laura La Plante and Lew Cody is expected to be master of ceremonies.

The local numbers are promised surprises. The complete Elks band will open the performance, massed on the stage, and following a short concert the rest of the numbers will be run after vaudeville fashion. Those appearing will be Viola Yorba, in Spanish songs and dances; Keau-moku Louis, Hawaiian tenor; dancers from the Pearl Keller studios; Chief Walking Deer and his tribe of Hopi Indian singers and dancers; entertainers from the Emerson School of Expression; the Elite Trio of radio fame; and Grande and Cooke, former Keith vaudeville headliners and now with Universal Pictures.

Other acts will be announced later. Reserved seats are on sale at Roberts & Echols' drug store. All advance sale tickets must be brought there and exchanged for reserved seats. This does not seem to be generally understood and many people have failed to attend to this, according to the records at the box office.

WAR ARMY PROBE SET FOR GERMANY

PARIS, March 4.—Marshall Ferdinand Foch's committee, which reported yesterday that Germany's army was built on a war basis and not as a police body, was asked by the council of ambassadors today to furnish further details regarding the gravity of Germany's defaults. It was learned from an authoritative source.

It was expected that Foch's committee would require another week to complete this report from data furnished by the military control commission.

SUPERMAN

SACRAMENTO, March 4.—Among the possibilities for the future is the appearance of a real superman—a human being combining in one personality the vigor and efficiency of youth, temperance and wisdom, and far-sightedness of age—according to Dr. Paul Kammerer, Viennese biologist.

Other acts will be announced later. Reserved seats are on sale at Roberts & Echols' drug store. All advance sale tickets must be brought there and exchanged for reserved seats. This does not seem to be generally understood and many people have failed to attend to this, according to the records at the box office.

PLAN STRUCTURE FOR SAN FERNANDO ROAD

E. Pagge, Owner, Makes Announcement at Banquet Given Retail Drivers And Basketball Players

Glendale will have the most modern and up-to-date creamery on the Pacific coast, E. Pagge, owner of the Calla Lily creamery, said last night at a banquet given at Glen Inn by him for the retail drivers, in announcing plans for a $250,000 creamery plant to be located on San Fernando road just south of Riverdale drive.

The new plant will have a daily capacity of 45,000 bottles, Mr. Pagge said, whereas the present plant at 1245 East Windsor road, has a daily capacity of 14,000 bottles. Only the latest and most sanitary machinery will be installed in the new plant, he said, and the equipment will be modern.

The plant will be located on the east side of San Fernando road. A tract of land has been secured and building operations will start as soon as the property owned by the company at 1245 East Windsor road is sold, Mr. Pagge said.

Honor Casaba Team
Members of the Calla Lily basketball team were honored guests at the banquet last night. Mr. Pagge has taken an active interest in athletics of all kinds, has equipped the basketball team, has placed a bowling team in the field and is contemplating entering a baseball team in the industrial league this spring.

The record of the Calla Lily team and individual players for the first round of play in Glendale Merchants' league were reviewed by A. S. Hall, in charge of the sports department of The Glendale Evening News, and prospects for the second round were discussed. The history of basketball, from its inception in 1890 to the present time, was traced by the speaker.

Machinery Added
George E. Knight, foreman of the Calla Lily creamery for the past four years, and formerly with the county farm bureau, told the drivers about the new machinery recently installed at the plant. The boiler capacity was doubled, he said, two new pasteurizers have been added, a larger cooler installed, and the buttermilk equipment doubled. By means of the new machinery the bacteria count has been reduced from 7000 to 70, he said.

C. V. Castle, assistant farm adviser of Los Angeles county, told the curative and food values of milk. He outlined the methods of handling to assure the best flavor and explained the various bacteria found in the fluid.

It was expected that Foch's committee would require another week to complete this report from data furnished by the military control commission.

Building Designer Is Motor Sales Occupant
F. S. Card, designer and builder, will occupy one of the offices in the new Motor Sales Co. building, corner of Brand and Lomita. Mr. Card was one of the organizers of the General Construction Co. on East Harvard street, and has been in Glendale for the past five years. He has designed many buildings, both commercial structures and dwellings in and around Glendale.

FLAT 10-CENT CAR FARE IS PROBABLE

Rate On P. E. From City
To L. A. Due Reduction,
Is Prediction

In his belief Glendale's fight for lower street car fares to Los Angeles will be successfully concluded within a short time with a flat ten-cent rate for all travel, W. T. Jefferson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce transportation committee told chamber directors yesterday afternoon.

At present the average rate per person carried between Glendale and Los Angeles is 10 1/2 cents per ride, calculating all commutation tickets, Mr. Jefferson said. A flat 10-cent rate would not materially affect the present income of the road, he pointed out.

Books to Decide
An investigation of the books to determine the amount of business handled on the Glendale run will be made by a joint committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and City Council, Mr. Jefferson said, and it is his belief that an amicable agreement can be reached. In this event the city and the Pacific Electric will go before the state railroad commission with a joint request that the fares be lowered.

Full credit for effecting a return to 15-minute schedule that went into effect last Sunday, was given to the Chamber of Commerce by Mr. Jefferson. The change was first suggested and nurtured by the chamber.

VIOLINIST GIVES LOCAL CONCERT

Margel Gluck Pleases Large
Audience At Glendale
Music Club Program

Margel Gluck, violinist, won favor last night in the eyes of Glendale Music club members and friends, who heard her in concert at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Assisting Miss Gluck were Irmalee Campbell, soprano, and Lorna Gregg, accompanist.

Possessed of youth, talent and a pleasing personality, Miss Gluck merits the success she has achieved. Her execution is wonderful and was splendidly demonstrated last night in selections by Handel, Kreisler, Debussy, Wieniawski. Sharing honors with her was Lorna Gregg, whose ability as an accompanist has won her much praise.

Miss Campbell's singing is noteworthy because of her splendid diction and fine pianissimo notes. Previous to the program Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, club president, announced departmental meeting and programs. In reporting on the recent "Country Fair" she stated that the club had realized over $200.

Club Women Hear Talk On Chapters In Bible

"Judges" and "Ruth" were the Biblical books discussed yesterday by Miss Winifred Rouzee at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. She said: "Judges" is arranged in three parts, introduction from the first chapter to fourth verse of third chapter; history of judges from the fourth verse of third chapter to sixteenth chapter and details of Egypt left by Judah.

"Judges" is a continued cycle of sin, punishment, repentance and deliverance," she said. "The book covers a period of 450 years, God delivering the people to the enemy in order to bring them from idolatry."

"Ruth," Miss Rouzee said, "is the beautiful story of her devotion to Naomi. Through Boaz she restored to Naomi her inheritance lost to the Gentiles."

Brick Contractors In Spring Business Boom

Kilpatrick Bros., 842 West Forty-third street, Los Angeles, masons and brick contractors, report a very fine spring business. Two Glendale jobs just completed by the firm are the Motor Sales building at Brand and Lomita and the Christopher building at Wilson and Concord. There are four brothers associated in the business: James, Robert, Cassells and William Kilpatrick. They have been plying their trade in Los Angeles for the past seven years. Each member of the firm is actively engaged in the work of all jobs contracted. This, according to William D. Kilpatrick, is the reason why they are in a position to do better work and at a lower price than their competitors.

Women's Press Society Seeks Club House Site

Glendale members of the Southern California Women's Press club attended a shop talk meeting of the club yesterday and voted unanimously to authorize the board to negotiate for the purchase of a $20,000 lot on Olive Hill, Los Angeles, as a site for a clubhouse. Those attending were: Katherine V. Sinks, club editor of The Glendale Evening News; Mrs. George Orgibet, Mrs. Emily Hughes Wright, and Miss Abbie N. Smith of Eagle Rock.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

California is becoming the great news center of the country outside of the money market in New York and the national capital at Washington. More prominent people reside in this sunny clime than elsewhere, the writer believes, and more editors and feature writers and authors are to be found in our midst.

The sporting world, also, turns its face westward each winter and spring for no place, can one imagine, are conditions more conducive to training. Likewise, musicians find this an ideal place in which to rest, artists get new vision in the far flung west and business gives the man with money opportunity to make more.

The northern part of the state, at the present writing, is enjoying climate which the southland boasts. Indeed, all California at this time of the year is a veritable fairyland with the garden lands, the blooming fruit trees, the waving fields of young grain, the warm sunshine and placid ocean all lending their vigor to a world alive.

Those of you who have automobiles and time to spare should tour California in the spring of the year. And this is spring, if you please, although March in the east represents the last roar of winter. One cannot help but enthuse over the endowments of the Bear state after seeing a larger part of it at the very best season. And this is it.

Keeping up with the legislature this week would require a man of many parts for, while the sessions of the Assembly and Senate are brief, there are no less than six active committees functioning and no one knows when someone will "spill the beans."

As an observer for several Southern California newspapers this writer is willing to frankly admit that 120 legislators can stir up more news in five minutes than any ten reporters can cover, and the same number can do less in five days at times than would keep one reporter busy.

A woman remarked that all reporters are presumed to be dashing—yes, dashing from one place to the other. So much for that.

The California Legislature this morning is going to listen in on the radio transmission of President Coolidge's inaugural ceremonies. That is indeed wonderful, but think of the transmission of pictures by wire in seven minutes from Washington to San Francisco!

Wonders of the age seem never to cease. Ben Franklin will likely be rolling out of his grave to see what the newspaper of 1930 looks like with almost instantaneous transmission of intelligence in word and picture throughout the world.

LEGION NOTES

Quinn will be the principal speaker and department, county and district legion officials will be in attendance at the annual event. It is announced, Monday night the members of the post visited the Benjamin J. Bowie Post No. 228, Los Angeles. Saturday afternoon and Sunday the Verdugo Hills post members cleared the lot near Fairway and Rosemont avenues. A. N. Vilmur is chairman of the building committee.

Western Rangers' Head At Glendale Council

Harry C. James of Los Angeles, chief and founder of the Western Rangers, was present at the meeting Monday night of the Acocoma council, Western Rangers, held at Wilson Intermediate school. Mr. James told of the founding of the Western Rangers. Ted Sawyer, recently elected chief, presided at the meeting, when plans were discussed for a hike which will be taken to Camp Sealy during the Easter vacation. Carl Sharnsmith will conduct the hike. The meeting next Monday night will be a regular business session.

AUXILIARY ON CHILD WORK REPORTS

Children's Hospital Benefits
For Past Year Cited
'With Pride'

The annual report of the Glendale Auxiliary of the Children's hospital, made by Mrs. E. J. Morgan, president, at the February meeting, which marks the closing of the year's work, contained many items of interest to members of assisting organizations, as well as members of the Auxiliary. "It is with a feeling of pride that we look over the past year," said Mrs. Morgan. "Our little group of hard-working members has accomplished much. New members and friends have come to join the circle. At nearly every meeting the ring has opened to admit another member. And this, we hope, will continue."

Since the last annual meeting the Auxiliary has received donations amounting to $548.75, and will receive from the Community Chest between $900 and $1000. Twenty-four dollars and one cent have been collected through the medium of the milk bottles placed in Williams' dry goods store, Roberts & Echols, George V. Black's, Brown Drug Co. and the Busy Corner, drug companies. Two and one-half truckloads of salvage have been collected in Glendale for the salvage department, which is one of the assets of the institution as a source of revenue.

Three hundred and seventy-four finished garments, made by the members of the Auxiliary, Thursday Afternoon club and Chapters of P. E. O. of Glendale, have been taken to the hospital, a notable increase over the report of 165 for the previous year. A therapy lamp, representing an outlay of $90, and a surgical dressing table, $100, have also been presented by the Auxiliary.

Cribs installed
One Glendale crib was installed in 1922, and through the kind donation of a friend, through Chapter C.J. P. E. O., a second crib has been installed, and the upkeep of both has been paid up to April, 1927. These cribs are for the use of children of Glendale whose parents are financially unable to meet the expenses of hospital treatment.

It will be of interest to many to know that from October, 1922, to October, 1924, twenty-eight Glendale children were treated in the hospital, seventeen without expense, and eighty-three made use of the free clinic, making many visits.

Donations to the hospital given in the name of the Auxiliary during recent months have included Christmas offerings from members of Mrs. Ed M. Lee's Sunday school class of the First Methodist church, twenty-one quarts of preserved fruits, a quantity of dried fruit, apples, vegetables, and miscellaneous articles of food; about ninety glasses of home-made jelly from the H-Y boys and Chapters DJ and CJ of P. E. O.

Associate memberships have been taken by Thursday Afternoon club of Glendale, Colorado Street Parent-Teacher association, and chapters C.J. AH, BA and L. P. E. O.

Helpers Thanked
Practically all the board meetings at the hospital have been attended by the president, Mrs. Morgan, or representatives.

Before closing her report Mrs. Morgan voiced her appreciation of the hearty co-operation she has received throughout her administration from the officers, directors and members of the Auxiliary, and the organizations that have been so generous with assistance, various chapters of P. E. O. the H-Y boys and Thursday Afternoon club. Especial mention was made of The Glendale Evening News for contributing space for all publicity desired.

DAWES PICTURESQUE FIGURE IN AMERICA

Vice-President Has Been Financier, Soldier, Inventor, Musician, Oil Magnate, Lawyer and Author

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Charles G. Dawes today became the thirtieth vice president of the United States. It has been 146 years since John Adams assumed the same office under Washington. Adams was an outstanding figure of his time, and so were many of those who followed him—Jefferson, Burr, Clinton, Calhoun, Roosevelt.

Great men and men not so great have been numbered among the twenty-nine predecessors of Gen. Dawes. And yet it is doubtful if any of them brought into public life a personality more colorful or a record more filled with brilliant and versatile achievement than "Hell an' Maria" Dawes.

The formal biographies of Charles G. Dawes list his vocation as "financier." But they don't tell the story of his life in that one word. It is true he is one of the foremost bankers and financiers of the country, but he also has been, and still is on occasion, an engineer, soldier, inventor, musician and composer of music, politician, oil magnate, economist of international renown, philanthropist, whose benefactions amount to considerably more than the public realizes, shrewd stock market operator, and a public utilities expert.

All in 60 Years. And in between times he has found time to cultivate a taste for golf, for horses, for pipes, and for picturesque profanity.

Dawes has been in and out of public life several times over this span of sixty years, so he makes his re-entry on the Washington stage as an old, experienced actor who probably knows as much about the inside workings of the American government, its strength and its weaknesses, as any other official here.

He was a tall, gangling young man of barely thirty when he received his political baptism. It was in the McKinley movement in Illinois in the 'nineties. He was one of the chief directors of the McKinley campaign in the Middle West in 1896. He came to Washington the next year as comptroller of the currency, the youngest man ever to have held the post. He was 31 at the time.

He stayed on the job five years. When he left it was to organize and become head of the Central Trust Co. of Illinois, which since 1902 has grown until now it is ranked as one of the foremost financial institutions of the country.

Interests Varied. Coincident with his banking, he became interested in gas wells, oil wells, coal mines, and what not, and he prospered so much in that that today he is a very wealthy man.

The business of piling up dollars was fascinating, but it could not hold entirely the attention of a personality so energetic and dynamic as that of General Dawes. He became interested in music at an age when most business men express their interest in this art with checks rather than by seeking knowledge about it. He became what the critics call an "autodidact"—that is, a self-taught player. The violin was his hobby. He mastered it and then turned to composing. His success at composing may best be judged by the fact that his "Melody in A" is one of the most popular bits in Fritz Kreisler's repertoire. It is a plaintive, haunting little lullaby—as different from the bluff exterior of Charles G. Dawes as day is from night. Many people hear it on their phonographs without associating it with the explosive general.

His most widely-known philanthropy has been the establishment and maintenance of the Rufus Dawes Hotel. It aids young men and men down on their luck, and thousands of men throughout the Middle West have been at one time or another the beneficiaries of its hospitality. It was established in memory of the general's only son, who met a tragic and accidental death soon after reaching his majority.

When the World War came along, General Dawes was fifty-two years of age. It offered him an outlet for the tremendous energies that have marked his entire career.

Pershing's Friend. Pershing and he were old friends from Lincoln, Neb., where Dawes had been a practicing lawyer from 1887 to 1894.

Two months from the day war was declared he was wearing a major's uniform and commanding a battalion of railroad engineers. A month later he was in France—one of the first civilian officers to reach the other side. Pershing particularly wanted railroad personnel to prepare the lines of communication for the millions to come.

Because of his great executive experience and all-around business ability, Pershing made him general purchasing agent of the American Expeditionary Forces in September, 1917, and he served in that capacity, and later, as the American member of the Inter-Allied Purchasing board, throughout the war.

The campaign of 1920, with Harding opposing Cox, re-awakened Dawes' love of politics, and he plunged into it with fervor. He was one of the "best minds" that surrounded Harding at Marion, and he was a frequent visitor to the White House after Harding was inaugurated.

Harding persuaded him that there was a great field of public service in the directorship of the

Executive Takes Oath Today

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE was the central figure of the quietest inaugural ceremonies ever staged in the nation's capital city when the new administration leader took office today.

that the General was misunderstanding the purpose and scope of the investigation. But the General waved them down and went on. Some of the women spectators tittered and began nervous preparations to leave the room. But they changed their minds and stayed—and seemed to enjoy it.

The afternoon papers that day carried pretty complete accounts of what the general had said, and more editorials were written about it than any other incident of the session.

Overnight General Dawes became "Hell an' Maria" Dawes to the whole country. The picture of the general stamping up and down the committee room, shaking his fist and roaring "Hell an' Maria!" at Congressmen apparently tickled the American sense of humor. At any rate, General Dawes found himself famous overnight. It is one of the oddities of American life that the general thus became a nation-wide figure through a little picturesque profanity rather than by his numerous achievements in the business, financial and musical world.

President Harding afterward made him director of the budget, and his career as a director of that institution was marked by similar explosive, but always effective, profanity.

He "bawled out" cabinet officers in public for slipshod business methods of expenditure in their departments. He cracked the whip over bureau heads who drew $3,500 in salary and who were responsible for the expenditure of perhaps $35,000,000 in government funds.

Hit Extravagance. He had defended extravagance during the war because, he said, it was necessary. But he leaped with both feet upon extravagance in the peace-time operation of the government.

When he left the directorship of the budget there were sighs of relief in a lot of government bureaus. Several cabinet officers had tried to "get his head" during his incumbency, but Harding always stuck to Dawes, and when he got out it was at his own volition and against the wishes of the President.

General Dawes has many friends—and not a few enemies. He is that kind of a man. By his friends he is considered dynamic, efficient and courageously truthful. His enemies have been known to characterize him as ruthless, arrogant and autocratic in his methods. But his record reveals that he usually does what he starts out to do.

His nomination to the vice-presidency at Cleveland was due to a group of Republican senators in the convention, who revolted against the Coolidge machine there.

Borah Refuses. William M. Butler, generalissimo of the Coolidge campaign, and now, but not then, a senator from Massachusetts and chairman of the Republican National committee, was in charge of the convention. Senator Borah had refused the nomination after Butler had had the Senators line up their delegations for the Idahoan. The convention had got out of hand and he had declined to run. There was bickering between Butler and the floor leaders. Conflicting orders had gone down from the platform to the floor. It was hot and muggy and everybody wanted to go home.

The convention had adjourned after a cominuting Lowden, to await his reply. In the interim a number of influential state leaders had got together, under the leadership of Senators Reed, of Pennsylvania; Wadsworth, of New York; and Edge, of New Jersey. Illinois and Nebraska, in the west, were both for Dawes after Lowden. They decided on Dawes, if Lowden persisted in declining.

The convention met to hear Lowden's refusal. The Dawes men on the floor ignored the frantic signals that came down from the platform. Butler was motioning them up for a conference. They did not go. Finally he came down to them.

Secure in his party leadership popular with the country and enjoying the confidence of business and industry to an extent that few of his predecessors have ever had, his slight, reddish-haired New Englander began his new lease on the White House with every visible sign pointing to peace and prosperity.

NO CLOUDS LOOM ON HORIZON FOR LEADER

Incoming Executive Begins Tenure of His Office Under Circumstances Pointing to Peaceful Regime

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Calvin Coolidge was inaugurated president of the United States "in his own right" today—and it is doubtful whether any incoming executive in recent years ever began his tenure of office in circumstances that pointed more strongly to a peaceful and prosperous administration.

Undeniably the leader of his party, possessed of the confidence of the business interests of the country, and assured of a dependable working majority in the new Congress that comes in with him, Calvin Coolidge lifted his right hand and took the oath today with no menacing clouds visible on his horizon, either at home or abroad. Few of his predecessors have been so fortunate.

Twenty years ago today another president, who had been a vice-president, faced the same kind of a multitude in Washington. That was Roosevelt. He, too, had succeeded in becoming president "in his own right." But Roosevelt had no such auspicious start as Coolidge had today. Business was uneasy, as if already feeling the first breath of the financial storm that was to break two years later. And there were rumblings of party discord.

Most of the jobs are filled all ready, and most of Calvin Coolidge's policies have been fairly definitely established in the nine months he has had in the White House before "his own term" began.

Those policies might be briefly summed up as economy, tax reduction and encouragement to business at home, and cautious cooperation abroad. They will continue, it is expected, at least for another nine months.

Congress is off Mr. Coolidge's hands for nine months. He has no intention of calling an extra session at which any new policies could be crystallized, unless something entirely unforeseen arises between now and the regular convening time early in December.

Like Harding, he believes that the country in general and business in particular "want a rest from congress."

The sixty-ninth Congress, turbulent, insurgent, defiant, died with the old regime today. From the administration standpoint, it was the most unwept and unused Congress that ever expired. The new sixty-ninth Congress, elected on the crest of the Coolidge wave last November, will have a different atmosphere, and a different attitude toward Coolidge.

Some Policies. The continuance of the same policies and the same president, however, could not entirely do away with the impression of "a new administration."

For one thing, the country had a vice-president after being nine months without one.

General Charles G. Dawes will occupy a prominent position in the official life of Washington.

In the departments there were some new faces. Charles Evans Hughes, who has gripped the imagination of the United States by his relations of the United States with a firmer grasp than any other secretary of state in modern times, stepped out today as his successor, Frank B. Kellogg stepped in. That change may portend a marked difference in the conduct of American affairs abroad, but only time will tell.

There are those in Washington who predict an early recognition of Russia as a result of Hughes' retirement. His stern, unrelenting opposition has always stood in the way of it heretofore. But they are in the minority.

Of the cabinet which Coolidge inherited from Harding six members remain—Mellon, Weeks, Hoover, New, Work and Davis. The others are Mr. Coolidge's own appointees.

Search Made for Wife Suicide on High Sea. LOS ANGELES, March 4.—Search was made here today for the body of Mrs. Rose Dick, wife of David Dick, who, according to police, committed suicide February 26 by jumping from the steamship Newport at sea. Mrs. Dick leaped to the ocean after writing her husband a farewell note, steamship officials said.

SUMMER FURS. NEW YORK, March 4.—One swallow does not make a summer, but one furrier can make a lot of summer furs. Many of the lighter fur trimmings now are mounted on silk bases instead of the original skin of the animals. This is supposed to insure against destruction by moths, and certainly insures lightness.

SPRING MATERIALS. NEW YORK, March 4.—There are at least 25,000 expert home dress designers in the United States. Most of them now are bargain hunting for spring materials. Checked kasla, a leather belt, a simple, straight line, sport pattern and organdie collar and cuffs are keeping thousands in the well-dressed class.

12-Year-Old Boy Falls 2 Stories Flying Kite. PASADENA, March 4.—Alfred Giron, 12, is dead here today, following his attempt to dislodge a kite. The boy fell two stories receiving injuries which caused his death.

Turkish Government In Skirmish With Rebels. CONSTANTINOPLE, March 4.—Fighting between Turkish government troops and insurgents in Kurdistan was continuing today. Marshal Feizi Pasha, chief of staff, is directing the operations of the government forces. Many revolutionists were killed when attacked north of the village of Vardal. The Turkish federal forces have reached Paloe, in the heart of the insurrectionary district.

Farm Relief Measure Dies Without Aid. WASHINGTON, March 4.—Wielding the party lash, the administration leaders today jammed through the dying Congress the $54,000,000 second deficiency appropriation bill, which had been used as a weapon in the Senate by the western farm bloc in its efforts to force a special session for the consideration of farm relief legislation.

Passage of the bill removed the last obstacle to an adjournment of Congress until next December. As passed, the bill was stripped of public building appropriations but carried large sums to meet debts incurred by the various government departments during the current fiscal year.

Iowa Legion Adjutant Gets National Office. DES MOINES, Ia., March 4.—James F. Barton of Fort Dodge, Ia., state adjutant of the American Legion, announced here today he has accepted the post of national adjutant of the legion, tendered him by National Commander Drain.

SHIP SAFEGUARD. WASHINGTON, March 4.—The fight to safeguard shipping at Point Pines, the rocky promontory guarding the southern entrance to Monterey bay which has lured hundreds of ships to destruction has finally been won.

EXTRA LEAF IN BREAKFAST TABLE

President Has Family Party At White House; Davis Not In Washington

By H. K. REYNOLDS For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—They had to put an extra leaf in the White House breakfast table this morning. There was quite a family party. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, of course, soon to drive a mile up Pennsylvania avenue to sign a four-year lease on the old John Adams homestead on the Potomac. Then there was Colonel John C. Coolidge of Plymouth, Vt., the president's father; Mrs. Almira Goodhue of Northampton, Mass., Mrs. Coolidge's mother; John Coolidge, the president's only son; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stearns of Boston, and a few other intimate friends.

It only took the president about a quarter of an hour to get through his inaugural address. He had promised a short one, and it was. Perhaps he took a leaf out of the book of William Henry Harrison, whose inaugural address occupied more than an hour in delivery, despite a sleet storm which drove most of the inaugural crowd to cover and a warm fire. William Henry stuck it out, however, went back to the executive mansion with a fever, went promptly to bed and died a month later.

John W. Davis didn't stay in town to see Coolidge inaugurated, although he was here yesterday to appear before the supreme court.

"Aren't you going to stay, John?" a friend asked.

"No," said the ex-Democratic candidate. "I wasn't invited."

Evidently William J. Bryan thought that he was not invited, either, for he had not shown up at a late hour, and his favorite hotel said he had made no reservation for the inaugural parade. A Republican inauguration is wormwood and then some to W. J. B.

Of all the state governors in the capital today, the most sought after was Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, the first woman state executive in the United States. Mrs. Ross is a guest of Senator and Mrs. John B. Kendrick of Wyoming.

General Dawes said he didn't know he had so many relatives. At least one-third of his visitors at the Willard have been kinsfolk, all wanting good seats in the inaugural stand at the capitol. The general ran out of tickets a long time ago, but he offered his best wishes and hoped they would get to the parade.

All the orchestras in town are playing the general's "Melody in A" this week and it will be rendered tonight at the inaugural ball at the Mayflower hotel. The vice president and Mrs. Dawes will represent the Coolidges at this affair.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

Copyright, D. Appleton &amp; Co. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate

I lost my head. I see now how foolish I was. By trying to protect myself I have made you suspicious of me—I tell lies so badly. Now, I will tell the truth. I was upstairs as I said. About half-past eight—no, a little later than that, thinking my husband was out, I came down to the library. I wondered to find it lighted. It was one of Mr. Hurst's rules that the electricity must be turned off in every room the moment a person left it. Even the light in the hall is extinguished when the family is out of an evening.

"Even a millionaire has his pet economies then!" whispered Flint in Graham's ear.

"I thought that Denis had been careless, that's all," Evadne went on. "I went to the safe and took out my necklace. And then, as I stood with it in my hand, I looked up and saw—saw my husband—his head on the desk—the blood—!" She shuddered and hid her face for an instant. "I went to him, called him, touched him—he was dead! It was horrible! I suppose I was seized with panic. I wanted to run—run—to get away! A cloak was on a chair—Estelle's cloak—and a hat. I threw them on and rushed out into the street, driven by the horror of it. I don't know how far I went before I got control of myself and turned back. Mr. Graham met me on the steps and told me that a policeman was in the house, and I was afraid—afraid because I must have been in the house when it happened, because I had run away as if I were guilty instead of calling the police. So I pretended not to know. It was very stupid of me. I might have known I couldn't deceive you."

Graham tried to read in Breitman's face the impression that Evadne had produced on him, but his heavy countenance was inscrutable. He glanced at Flint. There was expression enough in that mobile face, but how to read it? Graham thought there was pity. But, does a detective pity? He questioned himself: Did her words ring true? Yes, answered his heart, but his mind lagged in its response. Why was she so feverishly eager now, it asked, why had she fled from the house in such mad flight? He read courage in her deep-set, shadowy eyes and in her firm-set, delicate lips; she did not seem a woman to be easily overcome by panic.

Why, then, had she fled instead of calling in the police? Important questions to be strangled loyally into silence. On the other hand, the scene as she pictured it—the dead man at the desk, the startled horror of discovery, impressed him as vividly, shudderingly true. Inspector Breitman, who had made no comment, was questioning her again. "How was it you did not see your husband until after you had gone to the safe? You must have passed close to him to reach it."

There was hardly a moment's hesitation before she answered, but hesitation there was. The library door was shut," she said. "I came through the one at the end of the hall which was open. There one is directly opposite the safe, as you see. I went across at once. I did not look toward the center of the room."

"Were you there some time before you looked?" asked Breitman. "Did it take you long to open the safe?"

"Why, no, I remember now—the safe was open."

"Indeed! Didn't that strike you as odd?"

"Perhaps—I don't know—I was so frightened."

"But you weren't frightened till afterwards, you know," Breitman reminded her. "Tell me, Mrs. Hurst, why did you take the necklace?"

She started, taken by surprise at this sudden question. "But I told you," she stammered. "I wanted to see—to try it on with a gown."

Denis' voice rose shrilly: "It was for her lover she wanted it, that is God's truth! Old Denis eyes are sharp yet—I've seen more than anybody guesses. Only yesterday it was I warned the master."

As Evadne turned indignantly upon the old man, Graham saw that her shadowy eyes could, if need be, flash white fire. Their flame, for the moment, burned away all his doubts of her. He was sure, triumphantly sure, unreasonably sure, that she had no lover, that the damaging note had come, not from her, but from Estelle.

But Denis was not to be silenced by a look. "Ask her then who was the man she met in the park last Monday week; ask her who is Arthur! So busy talking were they that they had no eyes for old Denis as he went by."

Graham had not thought there was so much blood left in the girl's face to drain away. "I don't know what he means!" she gasped. Her hands reached out, groping for support. She swayed uncertainly. Graham was just in time to catch her as she fell.

•When the Half-Gods Go the Gods Arrive
"Get some water," he flung imperatively at Denis, choking back the desire to call down the wrath of heaven on his head. "No, stop," he called, reconsidering. "We can't let her come to and see that, inspector," motioning toward the sprawled figure at the desk. "She has been through too much; she can't stand any more. Until my uncle's return I shall represent Mrs. Hurst's interests."

DOBINSKY PLAYERS

Never since the Dobinsky Players opened have they put on such a corking comedy as "Barnum Was Right," which opened at the Playhouse, Central and Lexington, Monday night, and which will continue throughout the week. "Barnum Was Right" has never been produced in the west, and it was only through great effort on Mrs. Dobinsky's part that she succeeded in getting this play before it was produced in Los Angeles. Fred J. Butler, the new director, was so enthusiastic over the play that he felt it should run for a period of at least two weeks, however, the royalties of the next play are so large that it isn't probable that "Barnum Was Right" will run more than a week, so this week will be the only opportunity Glendale will have of seeing this screamingly funny comedy.

Over three hundred guests came from Hollywood and Los Angeles on Monday night, among them such well known people as Edmund Lowe, Raymond Hatton, James Neil, David Butler, Lucien Littlefield, Lilyan Tashman, Lillian Elliott, Ida St. Leon, James Corrigan, Dot Browning and Edwina Basco, all of whom were most enthusiastic over the performance.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

and, with your permission, I will take her to her room."

Breitman nodding acquiescence, he lifted Evadne in his arms and motioned to Denis to lead the way. He carried the slight figure as a priest might carry a chalice, reverently, adoringly. He would not let so much as his thought touch her profanely.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1923, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Do you remember the Early Bird, about whom I told you in the story last night, and how Uncle Wiggily made the poor, shivery creature warm by giving him all the feathers out of the kitchen duster? Well, a few days after that the weather became warm, so the Early Bird no longer needed the extra feathers.

"You may have them back," Uncle Wiggily sang the bird, shedding the duster feathers in front of the hollow stump bungalow. "You did me a great favor by letting me have them for a time."

"You are quite welcome," said the bunny. Then, as the bird flew away, the rabbit gentleman began to wonder what he could do with the loose feathers he had pulled from his duster.

"I can't stick them back in," he said. "They wouldn't stick. Besides, there is no need, for Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy bought herself a new duster. But I know what I can do with the old feathers. I will make a soft sofa cushion and Nurse Jane can sit on it sometimes."

No sooner said than done. Uncle Wiggily hopped out to the garage where he kept his airship and found an old bag. When that was stuffed with feathers it would do very well for a sofa cushion.

"And I'll paint some blue flowers on it with red paint," said the rabbit with a laughing twinkle of his pink nose, "and it will look like something you buy in the nine and eleven cent store."

It was easy to stuff the feathers from the duster into the old bag, but there still remained the need to sew up the end so the feathers would not scatter out. Uncle Wiggily waited until Nurse Jane was in the movies in the afternoon, then he hopped up to her room.

"With a needle and thread I can easily sew up the open end of

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

SUMMARY ON HOW TO GAIN WEIGHT

You have been advised never to eat unless you enjoy your food and to avoid eating as a mere duty. I tell you to discard that advice. Do eat whether you enjoy it or not, and do eat as a matter of duty.

Once the food is in your system, whether you like it or not, a large part of it will be assimilated. Perhaps not so well nor so readily, for we know that the enjoyment of food adds to the efficiency of the digestive juices.

There is a small bird, called the oriole, which is highly esteemed by the Italian gourmands. When it is fat it is very delicious, but as it feeds normally only once a day, when the sun rises, it naturally has no fat on it. So the Italians confine these birds in a darkened room and succeed in getting them to eat four or five times a day in the following manner:

They put a lantern at a little window in the room. The orioles, thinking the sun has risen, hop around and eat. The lantern is withdrawn and they are left in darkness four or five hours. Now the lantern is again put in place. The orioles, evidently an unsuspicious, guileless type of bird, thinking the sun has risen again to perform its duty by telling them it is time to eat, hop down from their perches and busy themselves very seriously and dutifully with their breakfast.

Apparently they keep track of time and do not suspect that only four hours of the 24 have elapsed. This same sun rises for them four or five times during the day and each time they obey its summons and gallantly eat. The result is that they are converted into little balls of delicious fat.

You can get a lesson from these birds.

Gaining Weight Summary.
1. Have an examination by a competent physician to be sure you have no organic trouble.
2. Calm yourself. "Learn to accept the trivial annoyances and the small misfits of life as a matter of course. To give them attention beyond their deserts is to wear the web of your life to the warp." (Hubbard).
3. Exercise and Air. Take at least ten minutes of setting-up exercises every day. Begin a small number of movements and increase gradually. Be in the open air as much as possible.

4. Sleep. Resistance is markedly lowered by a lack of sufficient sleep. Have a rest period during the day if possible.

5. Avoid unnecessary exertion. Don't talk too much. Delete the details. Never talk about your ailments except to your physician. You pay him to listen (or should).

6. Avoid tea, coffee and nicotine and other stimulants.

7. Masticate your food thoroughly and leave your troubles behind when you go to the table.

8. Eat. Count your calories. Gradually work up 500 to 1000 calories more than your maintenance. Stretch your stomach and train it to take care of more food. It may be possible that if you eat three meals a day instead of three you will enjoy your food more. It makes no difference so long as you get the requisite number of calories.

9. Eat. Eat whether you enjoy it or not. You will enjoy it later. Don't heed the advice that you should not eat as a matter of duty. You should.

10. EAT.

The pamphlet on reducing and gaining weight is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

When the housekeeper wishes to serve an unusually heavy meal, she is wise to plan for one lemon-flavored dish. For the tart, refreshing taste of lemon seems to lighten the meal in the same way that a crisp salad does. Try the following recipes:

Lemon Fruit Cocktail: Dice the pulp of one large lemon and mix with it the diced pulp of one-half orange; add one-half cup of diced pineapple, one-half cup of chopped canned cherries and one sliced banana. Sweeten to suit the individual taste, and divide into cocktail glasses, adding enough of the mixed juices from these fruits barely to cover.

Lemon Tapioca Pudding: Put one-half cup of granulated tapioca, one cup of granulated sugar and two cups of cold water into the top of a double boiler and cook, over simmering water until the tapioca is clear and transparent, stirring frequently. Then add three tablespoons of lemon juice, and one-fourth teaspoon of grated lemon rind and cook two or three minutes longer. Cool, and when it begins to thicken fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of two eggs and beat well. Turn the mixture into a serving dish and set aside till chilled and firm. Serve with an ordinary custard sauce made of the two left-over egg yolks.

Lemon Sponge Cakes: Beat three egg yolks till thick and add one cup of granulated sugar, three tablespoons of lemon juice, one-half teaspoon of grated lemon rind one tablespoon of cold water, one cup of flour sifted with one teaspoon of baking powder and a pinch of salt, and, last, fold in the stiffly-whipped whites of three eggs. Pour into buttered and floured cup-cake pans and bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven, or till the cakes are done in the middle. Cool and dredge with finely-chopped candied orange peel and granulated sugar mixed.

Lemon Milk Sherbet: Strain two cups of lemon juice and stir into it eight cups of granulated sugar; slowly four quarts of sweet, cold milk and freeze in three parts of ice to one part of salt. When frozen, pack in four parts of ice to one part of salt and let stand at least one hour before serving. (You may halve this recipe if it is too large for your family.)

SPOTS ON THE NAILS

There has never been a real explanation for white spots on the nails. Or rather, there have been several, but no one better than any of the others.

I do not mean the little "moons" at the base of each nail, which many of my readers want to remove. These are considered beauty marks, and are revealed more clearly when the cuticle is kept carefully pushed back and the nails polished. I mean the irregular little white blotches and patches that appear as often as half a dozen times on a nail, grow down and are finally filed off with the nail itself.

As these spots seem to appear most frequently on working hands (meaning hands that do housework, or typewriting, or something similar) I am inclined to believe they are the result of accidental slight bruises. But half a dozen doctors may write me tomorrow and tell me I am all wrong. Children often have them, but children's hands are always being bumped and bruised and scratched.

Usually the spots appear on the two forefingers, which would naturally get most of the bruises in working, and many women tell me they disappear when they are ill and forced to be idle. However, many good authorities say that the spots come from lime in the blood; once I read it was a slight hardening in the matter forming the nail, once that it was due to anemia.

The marks can be cured by rubbing the nails with a mixture made of equal parts of turpentine and myrrh, spread on at night and taken off in the morning with olive oil. It isn't much trouble, though personally, I do not think these odd white marks a disfigurement. One application should be enough.

Hold a bruised nail in hot water to keep it from turning black.

Young Mother.—If the baby is normally healthy, there is no need for you to be troubled because it does not walk at 20 months. It is best to keep young children off their feet until you are sure their

REALTOR LEASES, SALES SHOW BIG

Gilhuly & Russell Transact $183,000 Business In Five Week Period

Sales and leases that aggregate $183,300 have been completed during the past five weeks by but one Glendale real estate firm, indicating the approach of one of the most active buying seasons in the history of the city. Building is active and property values are on the increase, according to an announcement today by G. O. Russell of Gilhuly & Russell, 609 South Brand boulevard.

Sales and leases of the past five weeks made by this firm follow: Theater, corner of Brand boulevard and Windsor road; four-family flat, 712 South Maryland street; lot on East Colorado street near Adams street; eight-room house, 309 North Louise street; seven-room house, 326 East Chestnut street; six-room bungalow, 331 North Isabel street; double bungalow, Harvard and Pacific avenue; six-room bungalow, 131 South Belmont avenue; lot on East Garfield street; seven-room house, 326 East Chestnut street, second time; lot in Southgate, Calif.; five-room bungalow, 509 Fischer street; lot, leased, corner Chestnut and Glendale avenues; five-room bungalow, 115 West Windsor road.

Loan Business Good
"These sales and leases total $183,300," said Russell. "Our loan business has been very good. Everything points towards a very good period during 1925. The real estate market offers better bargains and more real opportunities at the present time than at any time during the past four years."

"Our building department has more work planned than at any time during the past year. In addition to the theatre at the corner of Brand boulevard and Windsor road we have three other large buildings under plan which will improve South Brand boulevard and the present time than at any time during the past four years."

"Out-of-town investors are realizing better than the Glendale investors what the present development means to Glendale property valuations, which include: Pacific Electric tunnel opening within a few months, reducing the running time from Los Angeles to Glendale about one-half the time; contemplated reduction of Pacific Electric fares; sewer system in less than one year; improved business conditions throughout the country; more and cheaper money for development work. These all spell a bigger and better Glendale and increased property valuations."

CALIFORNIA MAY BE BALL CENTER

Success in Cardinal Camp At Stockton May Pave Way For More

By JOHN B. FOSTER
Written for The Evening News.
STOCKTON, Calif., March 4.—The easy ability of St. Louis Cardinal players to "get up a sweat" under the warming influences of California sunshine may be the factor that will bring them to the Golden State for another training siege next spring.

Branch Rickey brought his players out here this year largely because an old friend who lives in Stockton asked him to. Also he had a desire to look over ball players on the Pacific coast. With this idea in mind he slipped out here last summer when his chances for winning a pennant or a place in the National league race had gone a glimmering.

He got out here and decided it was worth while to try out as a training place. Now that he has brought his Cardinals here their ability to sweat and sweat easily may be an important influence in their future training activities.

Hornby Likes It
Naturally there is some interest attached to the viewpoints of the players themselves regarding the changes from Florida to the immitable valley of the San Joaquin. Rogers Hornby who is a player with both wide experience and good judgment was asked to voice his opinion.

"I like it as well or better than Florida," he declared. "Of course, I've got a western yearning, anyhow, but there is a better light here and I can get up a sweat easier than I could in Florida."

That phrase "getting up a sweat" means much to a ball player in training. Most men are not so keen to sweat. It involves hard labor ordinarily and quite often leads to colds in the head but if a ball player can "get up a sweat" he mopes around in the corner like a chicken on a rainy day.

Players Benefit
Until that stage is reached in training activities where a player sheds perspiration like a tree sheds sap in the spring he is not yet rounding into condition. If the sweat refuses to flow the player knows something is wrong with him and he is pretty sure to consult the club doctor, or trainer, and ask them to deliver him of the evils that possess him.

So when Hornby delivers his opinion that sweating is easier in California than it is in Florida he is stamping great approval on the change. Other players agree with him. It may lead to another visit to Stockton by the St. Louis club.

In fact just now things seem to be running that way. There also is a possibility that a fourth major league club will come to California in 1926, arrangements being under way right now to bring them out. It will be one of the teams in Florida at the present time.

Favors San Diego
The point has been made that the city of San Diego is being taken over as a training place. Every condition is said to be ideal and it is farther south even than Catalina Island where Bill Veeck bosses the Chicago club and Bill Wrigley bosses Veeck.

San Diego just now is being considered a possible member of the Pacific coast league and with a membership established in that association and a major league club to train there the extreme southern end of California would be well on its way to baseball glory.

The greater part of the St. Louis players are youngsters and it doesn't bother a youngster much where he trains. It is only when players become old and crabbed that they show aversion to one place or another and it is usually because they have unpleasant memories of some previous stay that they sometimes grumble about going back.

If it should happen that St. Louis has a very successful season in 1925 rest assured that California as a training camp location will get quite a boost and more major league clubs may take a notion to come here next year.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

STOCKTON, Calif., March 4.—"There he comes now," ran the word through the lobby of the hotel where the St. Louis Cardinals are making their headquarters here. The eyes of everybody in the lobby centered upon a smiling, broad shouldered young chap, as handsome as a movie actor on parade, who followed a bell hop and his baggage.

Who? Duster Mails, the pitching hope of the Cardinals. If Mails can win twenty-five games for the St. Louis club—now don't smile, such things have happened—this southpaw who was in St. Louis in 1924 but a month next year, may put the collection of batting thunder that is under Branch Rickey's direction very much in the fight for the golden jubilee pennant.

Duster was quickly surrounded by those who had had the pleasure of shaking his hand before and with those who anticipated the pleasure for the first time. It is seldom that a player, especially one who has had as many ups and downs as Mails, turns up looking so well in the spring. And he was feeling well, too, and full of confidence of the brand that he wore when he broke in for Cleveland that eventful fall and pitched Brooklyn into the ditch when the Clevelanders ended their first championship in history by almost making a clean sweep of the world series.

"I'm glad to get back in the big league circuit again," said the Duster. "This time I am going to remain. If I don't have any physical misfortune, I shall be with Branch Rickey until the Cardinals win a championship."

"Then you are sentenced for life," said a kiddier. "Maybe not," Mails shot back. "I've been with one major league championship team and with one world series winner. I bring luck wherever I go. Oakland did not win a pennant in 1924 but the club made money, and I guess that goes for something."

Mails obviously has learned a few things in the last year or two. One is not to be too self-assertive. Another is to use better the cunning of his arm. If he should happen to come this season upon his first big league as a southpaw of unlimited skill do something, he may turn the balance so much toward success for St. Louis that this team, with its present make-up, will return to the position it held in 1922 when it was a fighting villain, which, though it did not win a pennant for itself, robbed other teams of one.

It looks as if Rickey ultimately will settle upon an infield made up of Bottomley at first, Hornby at second, Freigau at short and Bell at third. While he is playing Bell at short for the moment, he indicated to the writer that he might prove better policy to put Bell at third. No matter what disposition he may make of his third base and shortstop positions, he has an infield so loaded with batting strength that it will shiver the courage of every pitcher who faces it this season.

With his big Betties at first and second—and mind, this man Bottomley, after being ill part of 1924, finished with a batting record of .400—and with Bell, who led the American association in batting stunts and developed so fast that they shed tears in his back to St. Louis, and with Freigau who should be better than he was last season, Rickey can turn loose more big home-run welders than any other National league infield boasts.

Rickey has a bunch of outfielders upon whom he counts sensibly but not too heavily. Shimmers, formerly of the Giants, is one. He lost his stride by accident, but now seems to be back. Jack Smith is a player who has done a lot of good work for St. Louis. He needs inspiration to carry him along, but if his team is going good he goes with it. Plack is cured of his troubles, and can play right field for anybody.

There's a punch to this St. Louis team that is so well concealed one does not realize it until the personnel is analyzed. Maybe Duster Mails will be the

Local Baseball Team Beats Franklin 8 to 6; Hits Are Rare Things

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.
In the first baseball practice game of the season, Coach Eugene Wolfe's Glendale sand-lotters beat the Franklin horsehide tossers yesterday on Broadway field, 8 to 6. The local lads showed some good stuff in streaks and for the first real game of the season they were sure there with the goods.

Although both sides scored freely, a total of only six hits was made by the two sides. The Dynamiters scored twice in the first but were passed in the second by the visitors who tallied four times when the bases were loaded on errors and Palm took a mighty swat for a lucky triple. Franklin scored one in the fourth and then called it a day. Coach Wolfe's men made one in the fourth, two in the fifth, and three in the sixth, cinching the game with the final triplet of markers. Boli at first showed good form for Glendale, as did Stewart, behind the plate, Drury at short, Oak at third, and Woolley at second. Charley Smith was twirling with old-time form, and held the Kitefliers to two hits and no earned runs.

Ball Players Asked To Attend Meeting
Walter Heidler, former baseball manager here, is reorganizing the Glendale Merchants' club and wants to get another home town team together before the opening of the summer season. All ball players wishing to join the team are asked to be at the ball park on San Fernando road Friday afternoon between 4 and 6 o'clock. Heidler has asked that the following players be present: Acosta, Wilson, Doll, Flanders, Gabiachi, G. Harrison, E. Harrison, Seiser, Shridder and Bell.

Moses to lead them out of the wilderness. That is why they welcomed him so effusively.

Anyhow, Branch Rickey says he will bet a doughnut that his team leads the league in batting and run-making in 1925. "That will be our little part of the golden jubilee celebration," he said. "Judges Pries, but I'd like to win the championship in the golden jubilee year."

Then he knocked wood. But the writer does not know what for.

Seattle Southpaw Gets Close Decision Over Barrett In Snappy Fight

Dode Bercot, Seattle southpaw slugger, was given a hairline decision over Bobby Barrett, Philadelphia scrapper, in a ten-round battle last night at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena that was filled with thrills from the first blow to the final gong. Some of the ring worms who packed the arena, thought the easterner was entitled to a draw, but Referee Harry Lee's decision was popular.

Dode took a count of nine in the seventh when Barrett hit him with a wicked right to the chin. Bercot came back strong in the two last rounds. Barrett failed to time many of his blows with the result he was missing often.

Joe Ryder and Billy Hart had the fans on their seats during the six-round semi-windup, which ended in a draw. Bud Bercot, brother of the main event, won over Jimmy Powell in four rounds. Roy Cliffe stopped Harry Lee in the second round. Morrie Eagelson and Danny Carlson opened the show with a slugfests match, the decision going to Eagelson.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
NEW YORK, March 4.—Stalemates in golf are pretty rare, especially when top liners are concerned. Thus the record that Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood and Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, the English pros, have turned in this winter to date is rather unusual.

They have met in three matches and the English pair have yet to win a decision over the Americans. And vice versa. Even Stephen has been the order of their contests.

Their last encounter at Ormand February 23 seemed all set for a close and hard-fought victory for Hagen and his partner when Mitchell came through in the last hole with a birdie and squared the game.

Of course at this distance it is difficult to say how serious the players have been in their efforts for victory, but since there never was a pro golfer that enjoyed being defeated, there is not the slightest doubt in the writer's mind that the four men have been up against dame fortune when she was in her most whimsical mood.

It meant four golfers groomed for competition, fit and ready. And when four stellar golfers feel that way how can they defeat one another?

If Yale, Harvard and Princeton seriously essay to come to grips with the big get side of athletics the influence is likely to be far reaching.

The big three in the past has inaugurated most of the returns that have been incorporated into

OPENING GAME TO RADIOS, 49 TO 10

Defeat Christian Church As Second Round Of Play Starts In Loop

The second round of play in the Glendale Merchants' basketball league opened last night with the Radios defeating the Christian churchmen, 49 to 10. The game was played at the Harvard High school gym and puts the Radios in a tie with the Hulli Trucks, a position which will be short-lived, inasmuch as the truckmen meet the Standard Oilers tonight.

Archie Neel, former star center on the Dynamiters' lightweight basketball team, but now center for the Radios since his graduation, was high-point man, making eighteen markers in the second half after relieving Worthman. Soth was next in line, getting twelve points. Bowers did most of the scoring for the churchmen, making four baskets, while the other two points were made by Wardell, both on free throws, in the first half.

The Radios rolled up a score of 22 in the opening half, while the churchmen were held to two free throws. In the second half the Radios added 27 points, while Bowers made his four baskets. The lineup:

RADIOS (49) CHRISTIAN CH. (10)
McKowan (9) R.F. Wardell (2)
Sot (12) L.F. Bowers (8)
Worthman (3) L.F. Davis
Scheneck (5) R.G. Helm
Substitutions: Neel (18) for Worthman; Fortunato (2) for Sot; Shawhan for Bowers.

The Hulli Trucks and the Standard Oilers will provide tonight's menu. The truckmen finished at the top of the league for the first round, dropping only one game, the M. E. churchmen beating them, 29 to 23. The Oilers finished in fifth place with two wins and three defeats. The game is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock and will be played at the Harvard High school gym.

A snappy battle is assured for Thursday night, when the Calla Lily team and the M. E. churchmen meet. These two teams finished in a tie for third place, and tomorrow night will determine which team will get the jump for honors in the second round. The churchmen will enter the fray as slight favorites by reason of their victory over the Hulli Trucks.

LOCAL TRACKMEN WIN TRIANGULAR

Dynamiters Spring Surprise By Defeating Franklin And Oxy Frosh

By upsetting all the dope in sight, Coach Hayhurst's Glendale spike team came out victorious yesterday on the Occidental college field by breasting the tape with far more points than either of its rivals, and a total of more than the combined score of the Franklin Kitefliers and the Oxy Frosh. The final tally was: Glendale, 62½; Occidental Frosh, 30; Franklin, 14.

Glendale's showing is considered most remarkable. They went over to Occidental for a dual meet with the Frosh expecting to try their hardest but never dreaming they could leave the Peagreens so far behind. Arriving at Occidental they found that Franklin was also entered and that the meet was triangular. The score alone shows just what the Dynamiters blew up over there.

Cedric Maydwell starred in the meet, gathering in ten points for G. U. H. S. He was closely followed by Milt Nash of the Oxy Frosh, who had nine markers to his credit. Maydwell copped the 880 and the 440, while Nash got his tallies in the 220, the 100, and the discus heave. Cedric had the 440 all to himself, in the 880 however he was hard pressed at the Peagreeners. Maydwell's time in the 440, 51.8-10s, is exceptionally fast.

Finish Is Close
Purdy of Glendale barely lost out in the 220 when he was led by a whisper at the finish by Nash. The Dynamiters did well in almost all the runs, copped the broad jump, discus and pole vaults. They pulled first places in all of the dozen events except three, the 220, the high jump and the shot put.

Jimmy Coyne of the Frosh astonished everyone present when he won the shot by waiting the twelve-pound iron pellet fifty-two feet. The summary:

880-yard dash—Maydwell (G.) first; Goodhart (O.) second; McClelland (F.) third. Time 2 min. 5.1-19 sec.
100-yard dash—Wykof (G.) first; Nash (O.) second; Slocum (G.) third. Time 19.2-19 sec.
120-yard hurdles—Jones (G.) first; Rossington (G.) second. Time 18.3-19 sec.
140-yard dash—Maydwell (G.) first; Schweizer (F.) second; Dinsmore (G.) third. Time 4.10-10 sec.
220-yard dash—Nash (O.) first; Purdy (G.) second; Eddie (F.) third. Time 2.10-10 sec.
220-yard hurdles—De Parec (G.) first; Goodhart (O.) second; Jones (G.) third. Time 2.10-10 sec.
Pole vault—Murphy (G.) first; Elliott (G.) second; Argue (F.) and Bercot (G.) tied for third. Height 16 ft. 2 in.
Mile run—Montgomery (G.) first; Imlay (F.) second; Newell (O.) third. Time 4 min. 41.0-41 sec.
Shot put—Coyne (O.) first; Eddie (F.) second; De Parec (G.) third. Distance 52 ft.
High jump—Ritchie (O.) first; Thomason (F.) second; Jones (G.) third. Height 5 ft. 8 in.
Discus throw—Squires (G.) first; Coyne (O.) second; Nash (O.) third. Distance 111 ft. 1½ in.
Broad jump—Elliott (G.) first; Ritchie (O.) second; Brennan (G.) third. Distance 20 ft. 5 in.

SMART COATS

In the Newest Manner

THE slender coat prevails for spring, and ours are the slenderest and simplest of them all. Though they dispense with much in the way of trimming, they achieve more in the way of smartness. Of soft cashmere woollens in high shades, but if you desire more practical colors, you may have those, too. Beautifully tailored and harmonizingly silk lined.
